HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Safety Drills

As spring approaches, we will be resuming our regular safety drills. Practicing these drills with the children and staff is important to make sure they feel safe. Talk with your children about fire safety at home and make a plan.

Parenting Time

When I think about the things that are most important to teach our children, being safe, helpful, and kind are the three things that pop into my head. These are simple and important concepts that are easily defined. It seems that, in a culture where we value strength and wealth, a little kindness could ease the stress of everyday life. The following video has some tips for teaching your children kindness.
